

Basic Duties of Employees

This policy applies to Classified and Unclassified staff, Graduate Assistants, Resident Assistants, and Student Workers.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

A position description is a detailed listing of the important factors that make up a job, including the nature of work, the specific tasks performed, the duties and responsibilities, who the position reports to, who the position supervises, as well as the required and/or preferred skills, abilities, education, and related experience needed to perform the job.

WORKING DAYS

The University defines a “working day” as any day the University is open for business. References to “working day” in any and all university policies shall be defined as such.

ABSENTEEISM AND TARDINESS

Southeastern Louisiana University expects all employees to assume diligent responsibility for their attendance and promptness. Should an employee be unable to work because of illness, the supervisor or department head must be notified in accordance with departmental policy. Failure to properly notify the department could result in an unexcused absence. If an employee is absent for more than five consecutive days, a statement from a health care professional is required before being permitted to return to work. The University reserves the right to require an employee to be examined by a health care professional designated by the University at its discretion, especially where abuse is suspected.

For any department to operate efficiently, each employee must be at their place of assignment at the scheduled time. Excessive tardiness on the part of any employee should be considered when recommending salary increases or promotions. Employees reporting to work late will be subject to being docked for the actual time missed. Employees with continued tardiness records should be recommended for disciplinary action. A classified employee with seven or more unscheduled absences may be non-disciplinary removed from their position. Absenteeism or tardiness that is unexcused or excessive in the judgment of the University is grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

APPROPRIATE CONDUCT AND WORK RULES

As integral members of the Southeastern Louisiana University team, employees are expected to accept certain responsibilities, adhere to acceptable business principles in matters of personal conduct, and exhibit a high degree of personal integrity at all times. This not only involves sincere respect for the rights and feelings of others, but also demands that both in business and personal life that employees refrain from any behavior that might be harmful to him/her, co-workers, and/or the University or that might be viewed as unfavorable by current or potential customers (students) or by the public at large. Employees of Southeastern Louisiana University are expected to comply with accepted standards of personal conduct.

Whether on or off duty, an employee's conduct reflects on the University. Employees are encouraged to observe the highest standard of professionalism at all times. Southeastern Louisiana University, like other employers, has established work rules. COURTESY

As employees of Southeastern Louisiana University all of us are public servants. As such, we are obligated in both direct and indirect dealings with citizens of our State to serve efficiently and courteously. Visitors to Southeastern Louisiana University, for business or for other reasons, are to be received politely. They should be treated with the same courtesy and consideration that we would expect to receive if we visited another state agency or private business. All employees are expected to be pleasant, courteous and cooperative at all times. They are expected to refrain from any evidence of bad mouthing, talking down to anyone, or negatively representing their department, themselves, co-workers, students, or any member of our University family.

HOUSEKEEPING

Employees are also required to keep their workstation and surrounding area safe, clean, and orderly. Before departing in the evening, employees should lock files and cabinets and clear all work materials from desk surfaces, especially materials of a sensitive and confidential nature.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE AND DEMEANOR

Discretion in style of dress and behavior is essential to the efficient operation of the University. Employees are required to dress in appropriate business attire for their position and to behave in a professional business manner. Please use good judgment in the choice of work clothes if not required to wear a uniform. Remember to conduct yourself at all times in a way that best represents you and the University.

Employees required to wear uniforms are expected to wear them properly and in their entirety. Uniforms must be clean, pressed, and neatly maintained at all times. Shoes must be in good condition and polished or brushed clean and should be a type appropriate for the job being performed. Nametags must be worn if issued. Undergarments should be suitable for the uniform. Jewelry may be limited depending on the position.

Employees are expected to follow personal hygiene practices as needed for their specific job assignment, including, but not limited to, the practices listed below.

- Bathe daily and use deodorant
- Keep hair clean and neat

- Keep finger nails neat and clean (some restrictions may apply to length and to nail polish for certain positions based on departmental policy)
- Wash hands with soap and water before going to work, after using the restroom, after smoking a cigarette, after handling food waste, garbage, dirty dishes, rags, blowing your nose, coughing, sneezing, scratching or handling anything that is unclean

Employees failing to adhere to proper University standards with respect to appearance, demeanor, and hygiene are subject to disciplinary action.
